TOTAL STUDENT ENROLLMENT

WHO WE ARE

Tulsa MET stands for “Tulsa Metropolitan Middle School and High School”. We are called metropolitan because we accept students from all across Tulsa Public Schools in grades 6-12 who want a positive change from their regular schools.

WHO WE SERVE

Tulsa MET is a transformative school. We change lives.

- » Students with low grades have a chance to improve;
- » Students who are anxious at school come to Tulsa MET and feel safe;
- » Students can come to Tulsa MET and start to love learning again; and
- » Students at Tulsa MET are welcomed into an inclusive environment.

HOW WE DO IT

Students at Tulsa MET learn by creating projects and attending internships in the real world. Through our highly successful internship program, students at Tulsa MET receive individual attention from caring advisors and teachers in small classes so they don’t fall behind.

Effective in the 2022-2023 school year, Tulsa MET will serve grades 6-12.

ADVISORY MODEL

We start every day with a positive and interactive relationship between each student and their individual advisor. Our advisors work to build a safe and open relationship with each student through hands-on activities and lessons that kick start and feed the mind.

We pair a student with an advisor who will follow and support them for many consecutive years to help them master and become confident in project-based learning, collaborative ideas, and student-led free thinking.

PROJECT BIKE TECH

Tulsa MET is in our third year of Project Bike Tech. Students enrolled in Project Bike Tech can gain valuable knowledge and a nationally-recognized certification on bicycle maintenance. As the biking community in Tulsa grows, there is a higher demand for bike technicians at local bike shops. Through a strong partnership with Bike Club, Humble Sons, and local bike shops, successful completion of the Project Bike Tech program can lead to seasonal employment for our students.

EXHIBITIONS OF LEARNING

Tulsa MET Middle School and High School is as unique as our student body. Our faculty understands that our students are creative, passionate, and have interests outside of school. Students are more than a test score. At the end of each semester, Tulsa MET students demonstrate their academic understanding through “Exhibitions of Learning”. During the exhibitions of learning, students are free to demonstrate the knowledge they have gained through academic courses during a presentation to their Advisory class, with their families in attendance. The exhibition allows students to work on skills they will need throughout college, career, and life; such as, public speaking, organizational skills, problem solving, and critical thinking.
